Thank you for joining us at the first-ever Diversity Summit hosted by the CFP Board Center for Financial Planning.

Your presence here today is a testament to your willingness to learn, to become engaged, and join us in making commitments to take meaningful actions to advance diversity in the financial planning profession.

As evidenced in the research findings that we are presenting today, the challenges to achieving racial and ethnic diversity in the profession are significant. Addressing them will require thoughtful, intentional and persistent action from all corners of the profession and beyond. It is only through collective action by all who have a stake in this important work that we can begin to make real progress.

To all of you here today – executives from financial firms from across the country, who are striving to attract and retain diverse talent to serve your growingly diverse clients; educators who teach financial planning in our colleges and universities; experts and researchers in the area of diversity and inclusion; individuals involved in the delivery of financial services, particularly CFP® professionals of color and CFP® professional allies; representatives from influencer organizations who can help us raise awareness about financial planning careers with their members or networks – thank you all for accepting our invitation. Each of you sits in a unique position to make a difference.

To our truly accomplished, dynamic and thought-provoking speakers and panelists who have agreed to share their expertise, perspective and wisdom with all of us today – we are very grateful.

To members of the Diversity Summit Host Committee – we are very grateful for your generous contribution of time and talent to make this first-ever Summit a success.

And to our sponsors, you have made this important step toward change possible. We thank our Diversity Summit Signature Sponsors, Merrill Lynch, The Charles Schwab Foundation and Fiserv; our Major Sponsors, Prudential and Morgan Stanley, and our Center for Financial Planning Founding Sponsors, TD Ameritrade Institutional, our Lead Founding Sponsor, and Northwestern Mutual and Envestnet, our Founding Sponsors.

Today is an important first step as we inspire each other to make commitments to do our part to change the face of the financial planning profession. Thank you for joining us on this journey.

Louis Barajas, CFP®

Wealth & Business Manager, Wealth Management LAB

Born in East Los Angeles, Louis Barajas is a living example of the American Dream...hard work, a successful business, and a rich family life. After some personal life-changing events and years of experience at major financial planning, accounting, and consulting firms in Southern California, Louis formed his own wealth and business management firm in 1991 to help hardworking men and women, who, because of a lack of information or understanding, often made bad choices. Since then he has created a special financial framework to help people who are inspired to create wealth and use their money to live a better life. Other people he helps are those who have more desire than money, but are committed to create wealth to reach their full potential.

His business management firm, Wealth Management LAB, is the only Latino-owned firm that manages the businesses and finances of some of the most iconic internationally recognized Latin celebrities.

Louis graduated from UCLA with a bachelor’s degree in Sociology in 1984, received his MBA from Claremont Graduate School in 1987, and attained a CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ designation from the Denver College of Financial Planning in 1990. He has been an SEC Registered Investment Advisor since 1991.

Mutual Funds Magazine and Money Magazine named Louis as one of America’s top financial advisors. Billboard Magazine has named him as one of the top entertainment business managers for 2018.

Danielle Beyer

Chief Executive Officer, New America Alliance

Danielle Beyer is Chief Executive Officer of the New America Alliance. Prior to joining the organization, Danielle was Director of Business Development at 55 Capital Partners, a startup fintech firm. Previously, Danielle was with Mariner Investment Group, LLC, most recently as Managing Director and Head of Investor Relations, where she focused on managing the firm’s institutional investor relationships. Prior to joining Mariner, Danielle was with NatCity Investments (now PNC) where she worked on Special Situations, Industrials M&A engagements and Structured Products. Danielle earned a M.B.A. from the Simon School of Business and is a cum laude graduate of the University of Rochester. She is an active member of the University of Rochester and Simon School of Business alumni communities, and serves as a mentor for recent graduates. She advises entrepreneurs in the technology, media and financial services sectors, and serves on the Center for Financial Planning Diversity Advisory Group. She has been a member of the NAA since 2012.
Audra Bohannon
Senior Client Partner for Korn Ferry Hay Group

Audra Bohannon is a Senior Client Partner for Korn Ferry Hay Group based in the firm’s Boston office.

For over 30 years, Audra has delivered strategic leadership and business consultation solutions that have helped move people and organizations toward their desired performance results.

In her current position, Audra brings keen analysis and outcome-driven expertise on issues related to optimizing the contribution of a global workforce and advancing women worldwide. Her portfolio of client organizations served includes a broad range of U.S. and global industries and businesses. Audra’s consulting, facilitation and executive coaching services have spanned corporate structure, from C-level executives to entry-level individual contributors.

Prior to her engagement at Korn Ferry, Audra served as Principal at Global Novations, a Korn Ferry acquisition, Senior Vice President of Novations Group; and as Partner and business architect of J. Howard & Associates, one of the leading consulting and training firms that established the diversity and inclusion industry.

Audra is a highly-sought conference speaker, panel moderator, seminar facilitator and thought driver on topics related to development, inclusion and diversity. Whether engaging an industry audience or a global women’s summit, Audra delivers high energy, practical tools and a transformative message: “Lead life by design, not by default.” Her many white papers and articles also emphasize this theme and expand her insights on achieving personal and business success. Her collective experience is captured in Inclusion magazine, Issue 3 where she is featured as the cover story.

Audra holds a bachelor’s degree from Wayne State University. Beyond Korn Ferry Hay Group, she sits on the national boards of Community Builders and Accelerated College Experiences (ACE), and she serves on the Advisory Council of the Center for Financial Planning.
Lazetta Rainey Braxton, CFP®

Founder & CEO, Financial Fountains

Lazetta Rainey Braxton, MBA, CFP®, is the financial planner for the rest of us. Unlike many financial advisors who focus only on the super-rich, Lazetta partners with everyday people who desire the financial freedom to experience, influence, give, and make a difference for their family and future generations; to create wealth for the common good.

A CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ practitioner with more than 20 years of experience, Lazetta offers personalized financial planning, investment management, and educational seminars to individuals, families, businesses, and institutions. In 2008, she founded Financial Fountains, a fee-only financial planning and registered investment advisory firm that serves clients from around the country. Lazetta strongly believes in diversity and inclusion and access to financial planning. Her professional volunteer efforts include serving as Chair of the Association of African American Financial Advisors, board member of the Foundation of Financial Planning, as well as a member of the Center for Financial Planning Advisory Council, Women’s Initiative Council, and Diversity Advisory Group.

Recognized for her leadership, entrepreneurial spirit, and dedication to the financial planning profession, Lazetta was honored as one of the inaugural Investment News’ Women to Watch and is a recipient of the Association of African American Financial Advisors’ Leadership Legacy Award.

She is frequently featured in national publications and makes guest TV appearances as a financial expert. Lazetta has appeared on NBC Nightly News with Lester Holt, Nightly Business Report, and CNBC Closing Bell. She has been featured in national publications including CNBC.com, Wall Street Journal, Kiplinger’s, Essence, Black Enterprise, Financial Planning Magazine, Morningstar, USA Today and many more. Also, as sought-after speaker, Lazetta delivers keynotes and workshops that invite attendees to secure their legacies one dollar at a time.
Catalina Camoscio
Vice President, Field Development, Prudential Financial

Catalina Camoscio joined Prudential Financial in 2013 to co-lead the company’s Greater New England Financial Firms as an Associate Managing Director. Her business acumen and field experience was quickly tapped to lead the company’s Recruiting and Field Development organization, a position she currently holds. Catalina is an accomplished leader with extensive field and corporate experience in growing organizations in the financial services industry. Prior to taking on this latest assignment for Prudential, she served as a member of John Hancock’s Distribution and Broker-Dealer Executive Management team heading the Marketing, Communications and Brand Management divisions. There she led the re-branding of the firm to attract experienced advisors to the $20B AUM firm. Prior to this assignment, Catalina had been brought in to lead the company’s Field Training & Education division. She redefined the career development path for advisors and field management, and delivered a state-of-the-art online learning system that went on to become the model for John Hancock’s parent company in Canada, Manulife Financial.

Prior to joining John Hancock, Catalina was named the first Hispanic woman to serve as Regional Vice President for New England Financial (NEF), where she was responsible for agencies in the mid-west and southeastern U.S. As a Regional Vice President, she also played a key role in the firm’s Corporate Diversity Initiative, where she led the increased recruitment of women advisors into the firm. During her tenure at NEF, Catalina also held senior leadership positions in the Advanced Markets Competition Unit, National Marketing Division, and Marketing Technology Systems. As a result of her accomplishments, she was awarded the National Hispanic Achievers Awards for excellence in her profession.

Catalina began her career in the field with New York Life where she spent seven years as part of the sales management team, recruiting and developing financial advisors. During her tenure at New York Life, she also launched the firm’s first local Advanced Sales Case Design Unit.

Catalina graduated from Boston University with a degree in Economics.
Henry Cisneros
Principal & Chairman of the Executive Committee
Siebert Cisneros Shank & Co., L.L.C.

The Honorable Henry Cisneros is a Principal of Siebert Cisneros Shank & Co., L.L.C., and Chairman of the Executive Committee.

Henry is also Chairman of the CityView companies which work with urban homebuilders to create homes priced within the range of average families. CityView is a partner in building more than 60 communities in 13 states, incorporating more than 7,000 homes with a home value of over $2 billion.

Henry' community-building career began at the local level. After serving three terms as a City Councilmember, in 1981, Henry became the first Hispanic-American Mayor of a major U.S. city: San Antonio, Texas. During his four terms as Mayor, he helped rebuild the city’s economic base and spurred the creation of jobs through massive infrastructure and downtown improvements. In 1984, Henry was interviewed by the Democratic presidential nominee as a possible candidate for Vice President of the United States and in 1986 was selected as the “Outstanding Mayor” in the nation by City and State Magazine.

After completing four terms as Mayor, Henry formed Cisneros Asset Management Company, a fixed income management firm operating nationally and ranked at the time as the second fastest growing money manager in the nation.

In 1992, President Clinton appointed Henry to be Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). As a member of President Clinton’s Cabinet, Secretary Cisneros was credited with initiating the revitalization of many of the nation’s public housing developments and with formulating policies which contributed to achieving the nation’s highest-ever homeownership rate. In his role as the President’s chief representative to the nation’s cities, Henry personally worked in more than 200 U.S. cities in every one of the 50 states.

After leaving HUD in 1997, Henry was president and chief operating officer of Univision Communications, the Spanish-language broadcaster which has become the fifth-most-watched television network in the nation. Henry currently serves on Univision’s Board of Directors.

Henry has served as President of the National League of Cities, as Deputy Chair of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas and is currently an officer of Habitat for Humanity International. Henry remains active in San Antonio’s leadership where he is Chairman of the San Antonio Economic Development Foundation. He is currently on Univision’s Board of Directors, is Chairman for the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and a member of the advisory boards of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and the Broad Foundation.

Henry has been inducted into the National Association of Homebuilders (NAHB) “Builders Hall of Fame” and honored by the National Housing Conference as the “Housing Person of the Year.”
Henry has also been author or editor of several books including: Interwoven Destinies: Cities and the Nation. His book project with former HUD Secretary Jack Kemp, Opportunity and Progress: A Bipartisan Platform for National Housing Policy, was presented the Common Purpose Award for demonstrating the potential of bipartisan cooperation, and Casa y Comunidad: Latino Home and Neighborhood Design was awarded the Benjamin Franklin Silver Medal in the category of best business book of 2006.

Henry holds a bachelor’s degree and a master’s degree in Urban and Regional Planning from Texas A&M University. He earned an MPA from Harvard University, studied urban economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, holds a Ph.D. in Public Administration from George Washington University, and has been awarded more than 20 honorary doctorates from leading universities. He served as an infantry officer in the United States Army. Henry is married to Mary Alice P. Cisneros, who from 2007–2011 served on San Antonio’s City Council and they have three children – Teresa, Mercedes, and John Paul – and four grandchildren.

Dr. Frank Dobbin
Professor of Sociology, Harvard University

Frank Dobbin is professor of sociology at Harvard University. He holds a bachelor’s degree from Oberlin College and a Ph.D. from Stanford University. His Inventing Equal Opportunity (Princeton University Press, 2009), which won the Max Weber and Distinguished Scholarly Book Awards from the American Sociological Association, charts how corporate human resources professionals defined discrimination under the Civil Rights Act. With Alexandra Kalev, he is developing an evidence-based approach to diversity management, studying both the effects of corporate hiring, promotion diversity, and work-life policies on actual workforce diversity and the effects of workforce diversity on corporate performance. In related work, he is exploring how university hiring, promotion, diversity, harassment, and work-life programs can promote faculty diversity. Dobbin has held fellowships from the Guggenheim Foundation, the Russell Sage Foundation, the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, and the Safra Center for Ethics.
Rianka Dorsainvil, CFP®

Founder & President of Your Greatest Contribution
Creator & Host of 2050 TrailBlazers

Rianka R. Dorsainvil is the Founder and President of Your Greatest Contribution (YGC), a comprehensive virtual financial planning firm dedicated to serving entrepreneurs, first-generation wealth builders and thriving professionals in their late 20s, 30s and 40s. She approaches financial planning with a strong emphasis on financial education, providing business owners, individuals, and families with tools to make informed financial decisions.

A strong advocate for young professionals, she served as 2016 National President of Financial Planning Association’s (FPA) NexGen community, where she focused on the cultivation of the next generation of financial planners. In addition, she spearheaded the National Capital Area’s first NexGen Retreat in 2014 and was named one of FPA’s Diversity Scholarship Recipients in 2014 through her dedication to the profession.

She also sits on CNBC’s Financial Advisors Council, volunteers annually with the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, and co-founded a mentorship program for women in financial planning at her alma mater, Virginia Tech.

In 2017, Rianka became a spokesperson for the Center for Financial Planning’s “I am a CFP® Pro” campaign. The campaign is focused on motivating young people, specifically women and people of color, to consider a career in financial planning by educating them on the many benefits, including a flexible work schedule, the ability to make a difference in peoples’ lives, and the opportunity for career and financial growth.

More recently, Rianka launched 2050 TrailBlazers, a podcast aimed to directly address the lack of diversity in the financial planning profession by engaging industry experts and leaders in conversation to encourage cultural awareness, cultural perspective, and ways to make a measurable impact.

She earned a bachelor’s degree in Agriculture and Applied Economics with a concentration in Financial Planning from Virginia Tech.
Sharon Epperson
Senior Personal Finance Correspondent, CNBC

Sharon Epperson, named one of “12 to Watch in TV News” in 2018, can be seen regularly on CNBC television and other media platforms.

As CNBC’s senior personal finance correspondent, Sharon covers the many facets of how people manage, grow and protect their money. Her expertise includes saving and investing for retirement, paying for college, managing mortgage, student loan, credit card and other debt, and building a financial legacy through estate planning.

She hosts the CNBC Digital original video series, “Retire Well” and “Your Money, Your Future.” She appears regularly on the syndicated program “On the Money” and Public Television’s “Nightly Business Report.” Both TV shows are produced by CNBC. Sharon is also a regular contributor on NBC’s “Today,” NBC “Nightly News,” MSNBC and NBC affiliates nationwide.

Her personal finance expertise has been featured in numerous publications, including The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, The Boston Globe, USA Weekend, Self, Essence, Ebony and TIME, where she had covered business, culture, social issues and health as a correspondent prior to joining CNBC.

An adjunct professor at Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs, Sharon has also taught courses at Columbia’s Graduate School of Journalism. She enjoys teaching the importance of budgeting and building long-term savings as part of her courses for graduate students interested in media careers.

Sharon received her bachelor’s in sociology and government from Harvard University, a master’s of international affairs degree from Columbia University, and an honorary doctorate from Carlow University in Pittsburgh. A Pittsburgh native, she has also been inducted into the Hall of Fame at Taylor Allderdice High School, her alma mater.
Peter Fondulas
President, Fondulas Strategic Research
Peter brings over 25 years of experience as a senior market research consultant and practitioner. He has a strong background in quantitative research methods, including advanced design and analytic techniques. He is also an accomplished moderator and in-depth interviewer.

Peter specializes in research for a number of industries, including financial services, digital and mobile technology, media, entertainment and sports. In addition to CFP Board, a sampling of his clients includes American Express, Dow Jones, Capital One, Liberty Mutual, AT&T, Time Inc., Verizon, DIRECTV, NBC, National Geographic and Ticketmaster.

His firm directed the CFP Board’s Women’s Initiative research in 2014.

Before launching his own consultancy, Peter was Executive Vice President for The Taylor Research & Consulting Group, a company he helped found in 1987. He began his research career with Louis Harris and Associates as a report and questionnaire editor. He earned an master’s degree in English literature from New York University.

Bob Glovsky
Vice Chair and a Principal of The Colony Group
Bob Glovsky is Vice Chair and a Principal of The Colony Group. Prior to joining The Colony Group in July 2012, Bob was a founder and the President of Mintz Levin Financial Advisors, which provided wealth management and investment advisory services to individuals and families. Bob brings more than 30 years of experience in financial planning and money management with a focus on comprehensive planning.

Bob recently served as a member on the President’s Advisory Council on Financial Capability for Young Americans, after being appointed by President Barack Obama in 2014. Bob currently serves as Chair of the CFP Board’s Center for Financial Planning. Bob served as 2010 Chair of the Board of Directors of the CFP Board. He also has served as Chair of CFP Board’s Board of Examiners. Bob also currently serves as a charter member of the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services Advisor Council and is a former member of the Fidelity Research Institute’s Advisory Council. He has lectured and spoken extensively throughout the country on financial planning topics.

Bob is the Director Emeritus of Boston University’s Financial Planning Program, the largest CFP Board Registered Program in New England and one of the largest in the country. He was honored in 2010 for his service, and the Robert J. Glovsky Scholarship Fund was created to help fund financial planning education for qualified women and minority candidates and those choosing to assist the underserved population.

Worth magazine selected Bob as one of the “Best Financial Advisors in the Country” eight consecutive times, and he was also listed in Mutual Fund magazine’s “Nation’s Top 100 Financial Advisors.” In 2015, Barron’s chose Bob as one of the “Top 100 Independent Financial Advisors” for the eight time and he made Boston Magazine’s list of “Five Star Wealth Managers” in 2010 and 2011. In addition, Bob has been on the cover of Financial Planning magazine three times. His expertise was broadcast for over eight years when he served as co-host of “The Money Experts” on Boston radio and of “The Financial Planners” on cable television, and he is regularly quoted in publications, including the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, Barron’s, Business Week, the Washington Post, the Boston Globe, and the Boston Herald.

Because of his commitment to community service, Bob was honored by the Financial Planning Association with a 2011 Heart of Financial Planning Award and awarded the highest honor bestowed by the Boston University School of Law, the Silver Shingle for Distinguished Service to the School of Law.

Carla Harris

Vice Chairman, Managing Director and Senior Client Advisor, Morgan Stanley

Carla Harris is a Vice Chairman, Managing Director and Senior Client Advisor at Morgan Stanley. She is responsible for increasing client connectivity and penetration to enhance revenue generation across the firm. She formerly headed the Emerging Manager Platform, the equity capital markets effort for the consumer and retail industries and was responsible for Equity Private Placements. In her 30-year career, Carla has had extensive industry experiences in the technology, media, retail, telecommunications, transportation, industrial, and healthcare sectors. Kevin R. Keller, CAE
Chief Executive Officer, CFP Board,

Kevin R. Keller, CAE is the Chief Executive Officer of CFP Board, a leading 501(C)(3) non-profit organization with a mission to benefit the public by granting and upholding CFP® certification as the standard of excellence in financial planning.

Since his arrival in May 2007, Kevin has helped raise the visibility of the certification within the financial services industry and among consumers. Key achievements include:

- Growing the number of CFP® professionals in the U.S. by nearly 45 percent to more than 80,000 even while strengthening CFP® certification requirements
- Establishing an ongoing and successful public awareness campaign to raise visibility of the CFP® brand.
- Strengthening and expanding relationships with educational institutions and financial services firms that support current and future CFP® professionals
- Adopting improved technology and business practices that provide better service to CFP® candidates and professionals.
- Expanding the Public Policy function that has raised awareness of CFP® certification among policymakers and thought leaders

Kevin joined CFP Board after serving for 16 years with the Association for Financial Professionals (AFP), a membership organization which provides products, education and training for treasury and corporate finance. At AFP, he held the position of senior vice president and chief operating officer for the prior seven years and managed programs and services for the 16,000-member organization. He led the organization’s strategic planning process and enhanced and grew the Certified Treasury Professional credential.

Kevin has held senior staff positions at several associations and earned the Certified Association Executive (CAE) credential in 2000. He holds a bachelor’s degree in agriculture and a master’s degree, both from the Ohio State University.

Marilyn Mohrman-Gillis
Executive Director, Center for Financial Planning

A highly regarded leader within the financial planning community, Marilyn Mohrman-Gillis was appointed as the Center for Financial Planning’s first Executive Director in 2016 to lead a profession-wide effort to build a more inclusive and sustainable financial planner workforce. She guides the development and implementation of research and programmatic initiatives focusing on workforce development, diversity, and advancing the profession’s body of knowledge.

Marilyn joined CFP Board as Managing Director of Public Policy & Communications in 2008. In that role, she developed and oversaw CFP Board’s advocacy initiatives to ensure the visibility and credibility of the CFP® certification with legislators, regulators and other policymakers. Under her tenure, CFP Board became a nationally recognized leader in areas related to investor protection, the delivery of financial advice under a fiduciary standard, and advancing standards to promote competent and ethical financial planning services to the public.

Adept at developing strategic partnerships to advance common goals, Marilyn helped create the Financial Planning Coalition, which – along with members CFP Board, the Financial Planning Association and the National Association of Personal Financial Advisors – helped influence policy outcomes to benefit the public. On behalf of the Coalition, Mohrman-Gillis was recognized as a key spokesperson in support of the Department of Labor’s 2016 fiduciary rule, testifying at several public hearings including on Capitol Hill.

Prior to joining CFP Board, Marilyn established an impressive track record of successful advocacy on behalf of the American public during a 30-year career in Washington. She began her career as a litigator in the Washington, D.C., office of the law firm Steptoe & Johnson.

Marilyn has a bachelor’s degree in Psychology from St. Mary’s College, Notre Dame, a MSW from Catholic University and a J.D. from the Columbus School of Law, Catholic University.
Marc H. Morial
President and CEO, National Urban League

Entrepreneur. Lawyer. Professor. Legislator. Mayor. President, U.S. Conference of Mayors. President and CEO of the National Urban League (NUL), the nation’s largest historic civil rights and urban advocacy organization.

In a distinguished professional career that has spanned 25 years, Marc has performed all of these roles with excellence and is one of the most accomplished servant-leaders in the nation. As President and CEO of the NUL since 2003, he has been the primary catalyst for an era of change -- a transformation for the 105-year old civil rights organization. His energetic and skilled leadership has expanded NUL’s work around an Empowerment agenda, which is redefining civil rights in the 21st century with a renewed emphasis on closing the economic gaps between whites and Blacks, as well as other communities of color, and rich and poor Americans.

During his tenure, NUL had record fundraising success with a $280 million, five-year fundraising effort. He has secured the BBB nonprofit certification, which has established the NUL as a leading national nonprofit, and the coveted 4-star rating from Charity Navigator, which has placed the NUL in the top 10 percent of all U.S. charities for adhering to good governance and other best practices, as well as executing its mission in a fiscally responsible way.

Under his stewardship, NUL launched a historic $100 million, five-year “Jobs Rebuild America: Educate, Employ, Empower” initiative in 2013 – a solutions-based, comprehensive approach to the nation’s employment and education crisis that brings together federal government, business, and nonprofit resources to create economic opportunity in 50 cities across the country through the Urban League affiliate network.

His creativity has led to initiatives such as the Urban Youth Empowerment Program to assist young adults in securing sustainable jobs and Entrepreneurship Centers in 10 cities to help the growth of small businesses. Also, Marc helped create the Urban Empowerment Fund, which will lend to urban impact businesses, and helped create the League’s New Markets Tax Credits initiative, which has resulted in $1 billion in community investment via urban impact businesses, including minority business, through both debt and equity investments.

As mayor of New Orleans, Marc was a popular chief executive with a broad multi-racial coalition who led New Orleans’ 1990’s renaissance and left office with a 70 percent approval rating.

As a lawyer, Marc won the Louisiana State Bar Association’s Pro Bono Publico Award for his legal service to the poor and disadvantaged. He was also one of the youngest lawyers, at age 26, to argue and win a major case before the Louisiana Supreme Court.

As a professor, Marc served on the adjunct faculty of Xavier University in Louisiana, where he taught Constitutional Law and Business Law.

As a Louisiana state senator, Marc was named Legislative Rookie of the Year, Education Senator of the Year, and Environmental Senator of the Year, while authoring laws on a wide range of important subjects.
A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania with a degree in Economics and African American Studies, he also holds a law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, D.C., as well as numerous honorary degrees including Xavier University and Howard University.

Under appointment by President Obama, Marc has served as Chair of the Census Advisory Committee, a member of the President’s Advisory Council on Financial Capability, and on the Department of Education’s Equity and Excellence Commission. He was also appointed to the Twenty-First Century Workforce Commission by President Bill Clinton.

Marc has been recognized as one of the 100 most influential Black Americans by Ebony Magazine, one of the Top 50 Nonprofit Executives by the Nonprofit Times, and one of the Top 100 Black Lawyers in America.

Whitney Tome
Principal, The Raben Group

Whitney has worked with fishermen, environmentalists, advocates, political strategists, government employees, and thought leaders to develop the approach and solutions needed for the problem. Combining her facilitation skills, knowledge of environmental issues, and understanding of people, Whitney is able to walk into any room, ask the right questions, develop a strategy in the moment and leave everyone with action items and tasks.

Prior to joining the Raben Group, Whitney served as the director of diversity and inclusion at the National Parks Conservation Association where she led, defined and crafted metrics and measures for the organization’s diversity and inclusion efforts. Whitney has advised complex ocean stakeholder processes as a Program Manager and Mediator at the Meridian Institute including facilitating public meetings for regional ocean planning bodies that included state, federal and tribal partners.

At Environmental Defense Fund (EDF), Whitney served as a strategist, cat herder and trusted advisor in dozens of state and federal political campaigns. She also developed, launched and grew the Fisheries Leadership and Sustainability Forum – a partnership between EDF, Duke and Stanford. Whitney developed everything from the curriculum for fisheries managers to managing the steering committee, budget and partners for the Fisheries Forum.

In developing the Fisheries Forum, Whitney adopted a ‘soup to nuts’ management process. She developed the curriculum for and identified experts in fisheries science, law and policy to help educate federal fisheries managers. Her subtle, yet persuasive approach with fishermen and state and federal employees earned her respect. Within a few short years, due to Whitney’s continuous relationship building, and well-executed and informative events, the National Marine Fisheries Service asked the Forum to lead an entire sector of the largest conference in the United States focused on the reauthorization of the Magnuson-Stevens Act – Managing Our Nation’s Fisheries Conference.

Whitney earned a bachelor’s degree in political science from Middlebury College and a J.D. from American University’s Washington College of Law. She also won the International Chamber of Commerce’s (ICC) International Mediation Competition in Paris, France.
